One Global Message - SOS - Save Our Selves!

Live Earth will bring together more than 150 of the world's top musicians for 24-hours of music from 10 concerts across all 7 continents. The global broadcast will bring together an audience of more than 2 billion at the concerts and through television, radio, film, and the Internet. That audience, and the proceeds from the event, will create the foundation for a new, multi-year global effort to combat the climate crisis led by Vice President Al Gore.
